TechCurators

Amazon of Assessments

ABOUT US

Founded in 2018 by two IIT-Delhi graduates, TechCurators started with a vision to solve the pressing problems faced by organizations in procuring & curating content in the education & recruitment space.

The founders began their journey as a group of freelancers, providing assessments solutions in technical domains & JEE preparation. Today, TechCurators has rapidly grown into a team of 15+ core members with an extended team of 30+ subjects matter experts from top-tier colleges of India, like IIT Delhi, BITS Pilani, University of Delhi, DTU, IIIT Delhi, etc. and catering to 100+ industry skills spread across various technical & non-technical domains.

THE PROBLEM

01

Finding the right Subject Matter Experts (SMEs)

- Hassle of finding the right-fit SMEs increases the turnaround time, especially during urgent client requirements
- Freelancers can often be unreliable and untrustworthy with their services

02

Procuring unique and industry-relevant content

- Most of the content is on the internet today and it's hard to procure 'non-plagiarized' content
- Research always says that 82% of companies use pre employment tests to find the right candidate but fail to do so as they do not have proper industry skill knowledge.

03

Building the skill library by adding new skills frequently and new content

- The dynamic and rapidly-moving skill industry demands the frequent updating of the skills library with the newest skills in the market
- Many industry leaders require content that has real life data and require restrictions that are faced in reality while working in order to choose the right fit for their environment
